Our Ladies Auxiliary took a tour of the Neil-Cochran House Museum. From the Neil-Cochran House Museum Website: "The Neill-Cochran House Museum preserves and reflects the experience of some of Austin's earliest residents. Built in 1855 by renowned entrepreneur and builder Abner Cook, the house and the collections it displays shed light on the local, individual, and political history of our always-growing city. There is no example of Austin's antebellum architecture more accessible and better preserved than ours."

Among the attendees:

Back row: Sharon Mize, Marilyn Loop, JaAnn Alderman, Jean Kantor, Phoebe Hartline
Middle: Dianne Rohrbough, Sheila Manning, Candy Rudy, Meg Anderson, Betty Scott, Joyce Adair

Front: Gretchen Tooke, Mindy Lovell, Sue Lenes, Eileen Walcik, Margaret Anderson, Catherine Massey, Mary-Claire Beard
